Article XI: Impeachment & Abdication

1. Impeachment is a process put in place intended as a motivation to maintain productivity, and as a last resort to remove an individual who refuses to fulfill their duties, so that another may take their place and the duties can appropriately be fulfilled. These processes should only be used when absolutely necessary.
2. The following are grounds for a probationary meeting:
 - a. In this situation, we are defining consistent failure as being three or more documented instances.
 - b. Consistent failure to fulfill own duties
 - c. Consistent failure to fulfill additional assignments
 - d. Consistent failure to attend meetings and events
 - e. Disorderly conduct
 - f. Behaviors that consistently inhibit the productivity of other leaders
3. To remove any team lead (not the Chair(C) or Vice-Chair(VC)),
 - a. the C and VC must meet, discuss and be in consensus that action needs to be taken.
 - b. Compile evidences for a minimum of three consistent failures.
 - c. Attempt to schedule a probationary meeting with the individual in question to discuss the situation.
4. Probationary meeting
 - a. If the individual refuses to meet, they can be removed immediately.
 - b. If the individual ignores them or reschedules repeatedly after attempts have been made to contact them spanning at least three work days, they can be removed immediately.
 - c. If the individual meets with them and upon questioning and presenting of at least three pieces of evidence of their failure to fulfill duties, shows genuine desire to change and improve, the C and VC can decide how best to proceed in favor of first, the needs of the club, and second, the needs of the individual.
 - i. Starting the day of the meeting, officers usually have four weeks to change their behavior. This can be adjusted to 2-6 weeks depending on the officer's responsibilities/position, how they're performing, and what the event schedule looks like. If, after that time, officers' behavior has not changed, there is grounds to impeach.

5. To remove the C or VC, the rest of the club leadership must meet, discuss and be in consensus that action needs to be taken.
 - a. All leadership must be invited with at least 1 work day's notice. There must be over 50% of leadership individuals present to be considered valid. The individual is not counted towards that percentage. (e.g. 9 offices, 5/8 needed) The individual does not necessarily need to be present, but they must be invited.
 - b. Any leader can call such a meeting. They are responsible for administering that meeting, not the P or VP.
 - c. The meeting administrator must present at least three pieces of evidence of the individual's failure to fulfill duties. It is discussed by the group. The individual is given the opportunity to defend themselves or abdicate.
 - d. After discussion, a vote is taken by those present. The vote must be unanimous in order to impeach the individual. The individual does not vote.
 - e. If unanimity to impeach is reached, it is effective immediately. The remaining member of the presidency assumes control of the meeting and of the individual's responsibilities.
 - f. Present or not, the individual should be notified, treated with respect, and their personal needs and reasons should be attended to with delicate consideration and discretion.
 - g. Another member of leadership may be appointed by the acting P to be the acting VP.
6. Abdication
 - a. In order to cede one's office for whatever personal reason, the P and VP must be notified as soon as possible.
 - b. If feasible, the individual should work together with the P and VP to find a suitable replacement amongst leadership or club membership.
 - c. Privacy should be respected, and the P and VP will keep the individual's reasons private, if the individual decides to disclose them.
